

Serving up a treat at Newlands

PUPILS at Newlands Primary School, near West Linton, are serving up a treat after getting the chance to taste life in the kitchen.

They recently embarked on the 'Healthy Young Chefs' cookery course run by Romanno Bridge community centre.

It was run in conjunction with the 'You Can Cook' organisation following a grant from the National Lottery's Awards For All scheme.

The eight children lucky enough to be chosen for the course got to learn how to prepare and cook healthy and tasty meals for themselves and their families.

When asked what they felt about the classes, the children said that they were finding them really fun and learning how to identify the correct pans and knives to use, as well as actually cooking food.

They also enjoyed being given so much to do for themselves and being given the choice of ingredients to use in their creations.
